Observations... By UDELL

Tonight, Kiln Altar Society is sponsoring a dance at the Kiln school for the benefit of a new floor covering in the Church of the Annunciation. The dance, which starts at 8:00 p. m., will have music furnished by Tommy Moran and his band of Lake Shore. Try and attend. You will be helping a worthy cause.

The Beach Drug Store has undergone quite a renovation. The inside has been painted a bright, cheery shade of green, and new, modern fixtures have been added.

We wish to congratulate Truman Schultz on his victory in New Orleans Monday night. Truman, who was in his first professional fight, won in a four-round decision.

The cemeteries were beautiful All Saints Day. Let's see if they can't be kept this way the whole year 'round. The resting places of our loved ones should always be clean, not just on this day.

Tuesday's election results will start the pages of a new chapter in the history of these United States. We, like many other voters, pray that Eisenhower will lead this country through the difficult times we are facing and bring peace and security out of this chaos in which we are now living.

Last Thursday, we had occasion to write John D. Smith, State Highway Commissioner, when a subscriber from Pass Christian called our office for copies of the issues of the ECHO in which we asked Mr. Smith to please put a white line down the center of the bridge. We would like to print that letter. "For the past month and a half, through the columns of our paper, we have pleaded with you to place a white line down the center of the highway 90 bridge over the Bay of St. Louis. This morning, we had a telephone call from residents of Pass Christian saying that they suffered severe damages to their automobile because they stayed too close to the side of the railing in order to give oncoming cars enough room and to avoid being sideswiped. Well this is just one example of what has happened on the bridge because we do not have a white line to guide traffic. You like to be the victim of an accident and maybe suffer the loss of your life because you just didn't have a guide to tell you what side of the road was yours? This bridge is an important link in the U. S., but so many people have a fear of crossing it. We hold our breath and pray that we will get safely across every time we have to use it. Do you travel over the span very often? It is really a nerve-racking task. A little can of white paint could have saved these Pass residents quite a lot of money and wear and tear on the nerves. Some day, it may also save a life—did you ever stop and think of that. One little can of paint that holds a life in balance. Here's hoping that this time, if Mr. Smith hasn't seen our little notices, the letter will reach him and he will take the necessary steps to insure the traveler's safety on the bridge."

After a brief business session at which Mrs. Erle Kirkpatrick, finance chairman; Mrs. Landers, Unit Group chairman and Mrs. Samuel state vice-president reported on the activities of their groups; the speaker was introduced by Erle Kirkpatrick.

Judge Hall gave a comprehensive comparison between the and pointed out the discrepancy in representation under the present state constitution. He closed his talk by urging everyone to vote and stated that "we of the present generation by our actions are building a bridge for the future generations to assist them in retaining their freedoms."

Wins Demoran's "Dot" Promotion

Mrs. Frank Ruspoli of Pass Christian won the "Count the Dots" promotion conducted by Demoran's Radio Service last week.

Mrs. Ruspoli, who counted 2763 dots, postmarked her letter Saturday, November 1, at 9:30 a. m. The date and time of postmark was the important factor in this contest, as the earliest correct entry won the Domestic sewing machine.

The contest was judged Thursday, November 6, by O. W. Delph, H. W. Lettisser and Mayor Warren J. Carver.

Children Enjoy Lions' Festivities

The Bay St. Louis Lions Club held its first annual civic Halloween party Friday night with a large crowd of children and adults gathered at the City Hall grounds to enjoy the affair.

The fun started at Bay High at 7:00 p. m. when the Bay High band started the parade to the City Hall, via Carroll avenue, Beach boulevard, Main and Second streets.

Police sirens, music, loud speakers and the noise of hundreds of children dressed as witches, goblins, ghosts and elves, brought out the onlookers.

At the party, the Lions Club held several contests with judgments on outstanding costumes; many valuable prizes were awarded to the winners.

Hundreds of free Halloween trinkets, all donated by the Lions, were given the children, and a variety of drinks, hot dogs, hamburgers, cheese and other sandwiches were on hand to fill the heavy demand. Rides from Kiddie Park at "Waveland" were on hand, and a local high school band played for several hours.

The committee in charge, headed by Warren Carver, wishes to thank Joe Lolicano, Stevenson's Electric Co., Blossman Gas Co., Western Auto, Barq's, Mont-Carver, Bobby Anne Bakery, C. S. Arceneaux's, Beach Drug, A. G. Star and Hi-Way Theatre, for their prize donations and other aids to the success of the party. The SEA COAST ECHO and HANCOCK COUNTY EAGLE were also praised for their cooperation on publicity and the Bay High band was singled out for compliments for their necessary contribution to the successful party.

To Dedicate New Roadside Park

On Thursday, November 13, the Hancock County Roadside park, located on Highway 90, will be dedicated. State Highway Commissioner John D. Smith, A. O. Holmes, State Park Engineer and the Mayor and Commission Council of the City of Bay St. Louis and the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the Town of Waveland have been invited to participate along with the general public.

Three years ago, Mrs. Tom Adams of Pass Christian, who at that time was state chairman of the beautification for Garden Clubs, suggested a proposed project to the Bay-Waveland Garden Club, that they sponsor a roadside park for Hancock County.

The parks were being built by the State Highway Department and the State Parks Commission in Counties where they were duly sponsored by an authorized organization. The project was accepted by the local group. Through their efforts, the County now has one of the finest roadside parks in the state.

In order to have one of the parks, a location is chosen by the Highway Department in a spot where there are trees or a natural well. The site in Hancock County has a natural well. The State Park Commission will beautify the spot with trees.

A motorcade with a police escort, will leave Hotel Reed at 1:30 Thursday for the park which is located on Highway 90, several miles east of Pearlarington.

Damages received in the accident, which occurred around 10:45 a. m. Sunday, a quarter mile west of Bay St. Louis on US Highway 90, were $10 to the Chevrolet and $70 to the Mercury.

A hit and run accident took place about midnight Sunday about 12 miles west of Bay St. Louis on Highway 90, according to the State highway patrol substation at Gulfport.

Partolmen Blackwell and W. P. Kenney stated that an unidentified vehicle sideswiped a 1946 Pontiac, driven by Sam Price Jr. Jr., Henderson Point, causing $65 damage.

—Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Porter Jr., attended the Tulane-Mississippi State game in New Orleans last week.

Adlai Stevenson led Daniel Eisenhower in Tuesday's election in Hancock County. Stevenson, according to figures received from 20 of the 23 polling precincts, received 1411 votes to 1209 for Eisenhower.

The proposed constitutional amendment that would have required Mississippi voters to be able to write as well as read, received 724 for and 289 against in the county, out of 14 boxes.

At noon Wednesday, the unofficial total vote throughout the state had reached 265,397, with Stevenson owning 158,428 of these and Republican President-elect Eisenhower, 106,969.

Approximately 192,000 ballots were cast in 1948, the largest general election vote on record at that time for Mississippi. The record-smashing vote turned the early tide of victory to Stevenson who got about 60 per cent of the ballots.

Stevenson led 67 of the state's 82 counties and whipped the Republican opponent soundly in the rural sections. According to information, it appeared as if Mississippi gave Eisenhower his worst beating in any state.

The general ran ahead in the cities of Jackson, Columbus, Hattiesburg, McComb, Greenville, Natchez and Greenwood.

Based on past Democratic-Republican votes, Eisenhower, received about 90,000 votes of registered Democrats. The usual Republican vote in recent years has been about 7,000.

Counties carried by Eisenhower included Adams, Bolivar, LeFlore, Lowndes, Pike, Warren, and Washington. He ran close in Sunflower, Yazoo, Amite, Clay, Hancock and Lincoln.

A DREAM COME TRUE

The impressive success of Coast Electric Power Association during its 15 years of operation in this three-county area is proof positive that it has served its members, the rural people of this section of the United States, well.

We believe that the great growth made in our urban areas has been spurred by the better life offered our rural people in the use of this essential utility. The past 15 years have gone by as lightning time does, and have brought many comforts to the membership of the Coast Electric Power Association. Nothing can do more to develop an area than happiness and contentment among its people; and, to be sure, happiness is not a product of privation.

When the Association was started 15 years ago, it was difficult to get the necessary number of subscribers on the proposed 87 miles of line to be erected; today, in comparison to the several hundred subscribers in 1937, Coast Electric has 5500 subscribers, an increase of over 2300 since 1948. In addition to this, over 1550 miles of line have been erected, and in 1950 the beautiful headquarters of the Association were dedicated.

The progress of this Association has truly been a great asset to Hancock County and its people; though merely a dream years ago, it is now a dream come true for its 5500 members. A dream that has brought improvements to their way of life and added efficiency to their work.

We hope that the Association will continue to take advantage of every opportunity that may be within their reach to extend their service so that everyone within the area served by the co-op will be given the same opportunity to have and enjoy the comforts brought by rural electrification.

We wish to welcome all of the members to Bay St. Louis Saturday, November 15, and hope that their annual meeting will be marked with success.

As a member of the League of Women Voters of Bay St. Louis I would like to comment on the efficiency of our election commissioners in the handling of their duties. In yesterday's election, as in all of those in which I have voted since I have been a resident of Hancock County, some of the precincts were not properly staffed until long past the official opening hour. In some instances, substitute officials had to be pressed into service at the very last minute because the appointed officials, simply did not show up. There must be some way in which citizens can be made to realize their obligation to serve as well as to vote. I suggest that the election commissioners try to find more conscientious workers in the future.

Very truly,

Somebody Saved

America leads the world in production today because she has the tools, the machines, the men and the skill.

And America has the machines because millions of her workers saved something out of their wages and profits to buy the machines and build the plants to produce the goods.

If somebody had not saved and this money had not been invested in factories, mines and motors the average American worker would not be provided with $10,000 worth of tools to keep him at peak production. He is the world's best equipped producer.

From farm to factory and mine to mill, consistent saving is the bedrock of our production and our prosperity. Money still makes the mare go, and if some one had not sacrificed and saved we could have been, like too many others, an impoverished people. Millions of workers saved to invest, so we could buy more machines to make more jobs and earn more money. And, according to the United Nations Statistical Office the annual income of the average American was $1,453 in 1949, while it was $308 in Russia and only $27 in China.

The fact that the North American continent produces more manufactured goods than all the rest of the world put together is not an industrial accident nor a mere happenstance. We outproduced all others because we first out-earned and out-saved then.

And what we save out of what we earn provides the new capital to finance the purchase of the machines needed to create the energy to keep us ahead. Without the tools the American worker could not have produced the goods.

Savers build a nation's prosperity - wasters wreck it. Saving is the foundation of our economy and the bulwark of our security. If you are among the millions who spend less than you earn and save the difference you are foremost among our most useful producers.

But Do You Understand WHAT God Told Us?

Almost everybody believes there is a God. But there is a big difference of opinion as to what God is like... what we should believe about Him... and what we must do to attain everlasting life with Him.

The idea of some people seems to be that knowledge of God is vague and uncertain... and that each individual can therefore establish his own creed. This ignores entirely the fact that there are certain revealed truths about our Creator which are not subject to personal opinion, and from which we cannot pick and choose as true or untrue.

The Apostles' Creed, for instance, is not merely a pious prayer. It is not just an idealistic declaration, based on conjecture and guesswork. It is a summary of truths revealed to us by God Himself. It is not something which we are free to believe only in part, for to do so is to set our own opinion and will against the specific command and will of God.

This, obviously, is not the intention of people who believe in God and wish to please and serve Him. It is due usually to the fact that many sincere people... while familiar with the words of the Apostles' Creed... do not understand its full meaning and tremendous significance.

As far as Catholics are concerned, the Apostles' Creed sums up our attitude toward God and our religion. We believe, as the Creed says, not only in God, the Father Almighty, but in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary... We believe that Christ died for our redemption... that He arose from the dead... that He shall come to judge the living and the dead. We believe in the Holy Spirit, the Holy Catholic Church, the communion of Saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting.

We believe these things because God told us so. And because we believe them, our faith... and our hope for everlasting life with God... are founded not merely upon a vague and general belief, but upon absolute certainty. As we see it, the words "I believe" in the Apostles' Creed might just as well be "I know!"

Conservation News

Rescue grass a stemmy type of broome grass and a first cousin of our native Cheat. Introduced into Southern Agriculture a few years ago by the Soil Conservation Service.

Rescue grass furnishes grazing during the late winter and early spring. Like other grasses, it grows best and produces most feed when planted on rich soils. Rescue grass may be sown alone or in a mixture with crimson clover, hop clover, or wild winter peas. Rescue provides the necessary insurance in this mixture to prevent frost. One of the most remarkable characteristics of Rescue grass is its ability to produce a heavy seed crop following heavy winter grazing, a factor which adds to its adaptability into the grazing program in Hancock County Soil Conservation District.

H. L. (Red) Lee and Herbert Brown, cooperators with the District, are preparing land to seed Rescue grass this fall.

Several farms have made inquiries concerning seeding Rescue grass; therefore, the following may be helpful to farmers planning to establish this grass on their farms: SOIL PREPARATION—On clean land where the surface of the soil is soft enough to be worked with a disc harrow, thorough disking will be sufficient for a good surface seedbed. Where the ground is too hard or woody for disking, shallow plowing and thorough disking will be necessary.

SOIL TREATMENT—Apply 1 to 2 tons of ground limestone and work into the surface of the soil with a harrow while the seedbed is being prepared. Apply approximately 600 pounds of complete fertilizer just before seeding. An application of 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda, or its equivalent, per acre after the grass is up a stand will increase the amount of grazing.

DATE OF SEEDING—September or October. Early seeding will result in more winter grazing and is preferable.

Kiln Altar Society Plans Benefit Dance

OPS NEWS

LOCAL BOARDS TO RECOMMEND PRICING ACTION

Local Price Stabilization Boards will be set up in key cities where the Office of Price Stabilization has regional or district offices, R. W. May, OPS district director in Jackson, announced this week.

These boards are not to be confused with the Consumer Advisory Committees, recently established, Mr. May said. The boards will consist, generally, of at least five members, two representing consumers, two representing business, and one impartial member selected by the other four. This consumer-businessman ratio will be preserved even in areas where a denser population calls for more members of the board, he pointed out.

First of the Stabilization Boards will be set up in Sacramento, Calif., early in November, followed by others in St. Paul, Minn., and Providence, R. I. Then organization will follow quickly on a national basis, Mr. May said.

He quoted Price Stabilizer T. E. Woods as saying that the first boards were not set up until after the election to avoid any implication that the new program is a political move.

Woods said the purpose of the boards will be to "give local citizens a chance to make price controls more effective in their communities."

Some of the initial duties of the boards will be to: Receive consumer complaints and recommend appropriate action; conduct informal hearings in cases involving ceiling price violations; review applications for local price increases before they become effective; and review local price ceilings which are established for new retail and service businesses. In addition, boards will make recommendations to the Director of OPS on strengthening or suspension of national controls; recommend price rollbacks where permissible; and consider any matter concerning price stabilization and affecting individuals or the community brought to its attention by consumers, merchants, or the local Office of Price Stabilization.

This means, Mr. May said, that any buyer or seller who is dissatisfied with a decision of the District Office, for example, may refer the matter to the board for consideration.

The National OPS Director said the new boards will be modeled after the Rent Advisory Boards which "brought grass roots democracy and local administration to a program once operated on a highly centralized basis."

ALFALFA CEILINGS

Slightly reduced ceiling prices for straight alfalfa meal went into effect Saturday under a new regulation which spells out ceilings for the alfalfa feed products industry.

Alfalfa is a leading forage crop and is an important ingredient of poultry rations because it contains carotene, a valuable source of vitamin A. Straight alfalfa is the major product derived from alfalfa and the meal is made either from dehydrated or sun-cured alfalfa.

Hinds Plans Homecoming

Homecoming for Hinds Junior College, Raymond, has been set for November 8, and all former Hinds students are being invited to attend the festivities that day, President G. M. McLendon announces.

Opening with registration at 2 p. m. that Saturday, the day's program includes tours of the college, open house in the dormitories and buildings, a program of entertainment in the college auditorium at 4 o'clock, supper in the new cafeteria, the crowning of the Queen of Homecoming that night on the football field, the Hinds-Southwest Junior College football game, and a reception in the Lobby of Main Dormitory after the game.

Tickets for the supper may be purchased at the time of registration.

Members of the classes of 1922, 1932, 1942, and 1952 will be singled out for recognition at the afternoon assembly program.

No special invitations are being mailed this year, and former Hinds students seeing this article are being asked to contact other ex-students they may know.

Cold Storage Comment

By Grady L. Sheffield,

Manager, HJC Cold Storage Plant

Hinds Junior College—(Special)—can remember when beef was dressed in the pasture under a tree. It was hung from a limb long enough for some of the blood to drain from the carcass, then it was taken down, cut up, put into the meat box on a one-horse wagon and transported to town to peddle to housewives. All the operator needed was a wagon, a horse or mule to pull it, a knife and saw to cut the meat, a set of kitchen scales to weigh the meat and a sweet gum brush to mind the flies.

Today we know that meat of any kind requires proper handling during the slaughter period. Animals should bleed well. Plenty of water is required to wash the carcass thoroughly. Prompt chilling of the carcass to a temperature below 40 degrees is considered essential today. The chilling period varies from 36 to 72 hours depending upon the size of the carcass. After this period, pork can be cut immediately. It should be cut within 7 days after being dressed. This is true, also, of lamb and veal. However, lamb and veal may be held safely for a longer period than a week.

An aging period improves the flavor and tenderness of beef. Authorities differ as to the length of time beef should be aged after chilling and before cutting. My advice to home freezer and locker owners is to chill and age your beef a moderate length of time. Or, more specifically, a carcass weighing 200 to 275 pounds requires 7 to 10 days. One weighing 275 to 375 pounds should age 10 to 12 days, and one weighing 375 to 450 pounds about 14 days. Heavy beef over 450 pounds will go 18 to 21 days easily. Some few request an aging period of 4 to 5 weeks and heavy beef.

Beef should have a good covering of fat and have good quality otherwise for aging to be of any benefit. Poor quality beef will not hang in the chill room for

Forests Attract People And Create Wealth

By Ed DeMotte, District Mgr. American Forest Products Industries

The 23 Mississippi counties showing an increase in population according to the 1950 census report also have a greater percentage of their land area in timber, a larger collection of timber severance taxes, and a greater gain in assessed evaluation of property.

This fact revealed in a detailed economic study conducted by the Mississippi Forestry Association as a result of speculation concerning cause of population shifts. Latest Census Bureau statistics showed a population gain in 23 counties during the past decade and a loss in 59 counties, with a net loss to the state of 0.2 percent.

The survey, based on the figures of the U. S. Census Bureau, U. S. Forest Service and the Mississippi Tax Commission, showed that the forests and forest industries are at least one factor in attracting population and creating economic wealth.

"While there are exceptions among individual counties," said Jack Stuart, president of the association, "the 23 counties which showed a gain in population had 12.1 percent more of their total acreage in timber than the counties showing a population loss. They averaged $11,247 more in revenue per county from timber severance taxes and a $7,730,852 greater increase per county in assessed property evaluation."

The 23 counties showing a population gain averaged a 13.1 percent increase per county. Of their total acreage 62.9 percent is in timber. They received an average of $67,477.29 per county from their timber severance taxes and showed an average increase in assessed property evaluation of $10,548,989.

The 59 counties showing a population loss averaged 9.9 percent per county in their decrease. Of their total acreage, 50.8 percent is in forestland. They received an average of $46,229.46 per county from timber severance taxes and showed an average increase in assessed property evaluation of $2,818,134.

Another fact brought out by the study was that five of the 10 counties showing the greatest population gain are also among the 10 most heavily forested counties in the state. These included Forest, George, Harrison, Jackson and Lamar counties.

Concerning the relationship between population shifts and forest resources, the survey also cited statistics concerning the ownership of Mississippi forestlands.

According to the U. S. Forest Service statistics, there are approximately 15 million acres of privately owned commercial forestland in Mississippi. Approximately 12 million acres of this timber are owned by more than 140,000 individual landholders.

Farmers are the largest single class of forest landowners—93,000 of them control 7 million acres.

Next in importance are more than 48,000 businessmen, housewives, wage earners and professional workers who own more than 5 million acres. Total timberland holdings of the forest industries include only slightly more than 2.5 million acres.

"This dispersed control of timber by small landowners," said Tom DeWeese, association vice president, "is the reason the forest industries are trying to encourage and even help these 140,000 individual owners to manage timber properly."

"The forest industries depend upon that 12 million acres belonging to farmers and other small landowners for the bulk of their raw materials. Just a moderate degree of forest management—good cutting practice and fire prevention—would double or triple the growth rate and the income to the owners."

"When the next census is taken, the heavily forested counties will show even greater economic as well as population gains."

Small payment will hold one of these Bikes until Xmas morn. Don't wait - now is the time... W. A. McDonald & Sons Hardware Dept.

HOUSE WON BY JACKSON MAN TO BE ERECTED ON SITE OF SMALL FARM

By FRANK B. PITTMAN

"The House Forestry Built" to be constructed from Mississippi manufactured wood products and awarded by the Mississippi Forestry Association representing the Woodusing and Allied Industries of the State who donated the materials, plans and cash for constructing the building, was today officially awarded by the rules committee of the Association to W. E. Conine, Rt. 2, Jackson, who as first alternate has fully qualified for the highly coveted award.
Warren A. Hood, President of the Hood Lumber Co., Jackson; W. W. May, forester for the Illinois Central Railroad, Jackson and Frank Pittman, Secretary of the Association, Jackson, announced the award after full assurance that rules governing the contest had been met. Mr. Hood, chairman of the committee, notified
Mr. and Mrs. Conine at their home just outside the city limits of Jackson of their good fortune and advised them on behalf of the 67 contributing firms and individuals who have made this project possible, that their future home
"The House Forestry Built" will be erected on the site they choose on their small farm.

The forestry educational project was sponsored jointly by the Forestry Association, The State Forest Commission and the Woodusing Industries of the State. The program was planned to attract fair visitors to the Forest Products Display at the State Fair, and to inform the public of the economic value of our forest products in the way of supplying labor and construction material for homes and other building needs.
Mr. Conine, 68, has retired to his 25-acre farm after spending 55 years as a sawmill foreman, sawyer and saw filer. His first remarks after being advised of the award were, "I have saved millions of feet of lumber in my lifetime and not once did I dream that I would ever have enough of the stuff to build a house with.
When I was filling out that registration card I was thinking about the things I was learning from these questions more than I was thinking about winning this house."

The committee plans to dedicate this "House Forestry Built" when completed with full emphasis stressing the importance of growing more trees if we are to have more homes.

State-Wide Markers Make History An Easy Subject

Much of Mississippi's recorded history, dating nearly a hundred years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock, can be taken in easy doses today, by anyone old enough to read and curious enough to pause and inspect the 150-odd historical markers which have been erected from border to border of Mississippi during the past four years.

Much of the state's appeal to the traveler lies in her colorful and interesting history, which heretofore was available to the public only in musty history and text books. Little was done to quench the traveler's thirst for historical knowledge until 1948 when the Legislature passed a law providing for suitable markers and creating a State Historical Commission to carry out the program.

At its first meeting, the Commission approved 22 Mississippi towns for markers and 25 historical sites, considered to be the most important. However, the commission was faced with the problem of getting as many attractive, reliable and economical markers as possible within the limits of the $9,000 appropriation.

Markers then being used in Virginia, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania were studied, and finally the present upright attractive plaques were selected and secured. The familiar marker you see in cities, around ancient courthouses, and along Mississippi's highways are made of cast aluminum, complete with a sturdy metal post, green enamel plates lettered on both sides in 24-karat gold, and ornamented with a magnolia blossom.

Although there is a wealth of historical information available on each Mississippi site selected, limited space available on the face of the markers necessitated rigid copy rules. As a result, the text on each plaque must be limited to seven lines, each line limited to 24 letters or spaces in length.

Even so, Copy Editor John Bettersworth, history professor at Mississippi State College, condensed a great deal of interesting known and little known history into the space allotted.

For instance, the 109-year-old Capitol in Jackson is identified with a marker which gives this concise thumbnail sketch: "Begun in 1833, Here Henry Clay, Andrew Jackson, and Jefferson Davis spoke. Was scene of 1861 Secession Convention, Black and Tan Convention of 1868, & 1890 Constitutional Convention."

Almost all of the better known landmarks are identified with markers which give this concise thumbnail sketch: "Beauvoir at Biloxi, last home of Jefferson Davis; Chamberlain's Hill at Vicksburg, site of a crucial battle in the siege of the city; Columbus, home of the state's first free school and of MSCW; Fort Maurepas near Biloxi, first permanent settlement in the Mississippi Valley, and scores of others familiar to every Mississippian."

Many of the markers contain references to the Civil War, mark battlefields, famous post roads, early forts, schools and state capitals. All tell an interesting story of one kind or another.

Probably the most remote and inaccessible site recorded on any

A Natchez belle inspects one of the first 150-odd markers erected through the Mississippi State Historical Commission. This self-explanatory plaque bears the state's flower, the Magnolia. The letters are 24-karat gold leaf on a green enamel background.

The majority of the markers placed by the Historical Commission are located on or near well-travelled highways where motorists can conveniently see them, as is the case with this plaque located at the junction of U. S. Highway 61 and State Highway 24 near Woodville.

marker is that located on Ship Island, 12 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico. The marker, located in the Gulfport, proclaims the fact that Iberville's fleet anchored there in 1699, that the British used it as a base in 1815, and that it was occupied by Federalists during the Civil War.

Another battle reminder of recent times proves of particular interest to sportsmen who pass through Hattiesburg. For here is a marker which proclaims this proud fact: "John L. Sullivan defeated Jack Kilrain for heavy-weight championship in a 75 round fight on July 8, 1889 at Richburg, a mile southwest of this spot. This was the last official bare-knuckle prize fight in the United States."

The Order of the Eastern Star

Bay High Chatter

Now that Halloween is over we are looking forward to Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Perkins' Fourth grade will present a program Friday, November 7, at 8:45 a. m. The entire class will sing three songs, followed by a play, "The Professor's Magic Telescope." The cast will be: Professor (an astronomer) Gregory Necaise; Martian (Man from Mars) Paul Miller; Neptune's (Man from Neptune) Michael Yates; Saturn (Man from Saturn) Gary Burrows; Club Scouts, Steve Kravetz. The announcer will be Ida Schwartz.

Mrs. Tyler's Fifth grade held a Presidential election, Tuesday, November 4. Conditions were as authentic as possible with registration secret ballots and ballot officials. Voting polls were open from 8:30 to 3:45 a. m. and 12:30 to 12:30 p. m.

Dr. R. C. Vogel of the Argonne Laboratories spoke to the science club, Tuesday morning. He gave an interesting talk on the atomic power of the future.

On last Thursday a moot election was held in the Social Science Department. Regular election procedure was carried out and each student was given a mimeographed copy of the official ballot. The results were 92 for the Eisenhower-Nixon electors and 70 for the Stevenson-Sparkman electors. This election was the climax of a civics project on the "Steps in the Election of the President."

YOUTH CENTER NEWS

This past Saturday the teenagers of Bay St. Louis enjoyed a Halloween party and dance at the local Youth Center. Included in the party, which got underway at 1:30 p. m., was the catch the Greased Pig Contest which was won by John Demoran and Hugo Favre. Immediately following this was the Climb The Greased Pole, affair which was won by Hugo Favre.

A Halloween dance was given that night with music by Harry and His Joyland Revelers, a local orchestra. During orchestra intermissions "bobbing for apples" and pie eating contests were held with numerous boys getting cash awards for the apple

Services Held For Marcus Korn

Marcus Korn, who has owned a summer home in Waveland on Jeff Davis avenue for the past 25 years, died at his home in New Orleans Saturday, November 1, at 10:30 a. m.

Mr. Korn, a native and lifelong resident of New Orleans, was 61 years of age. He was the brother of Mrs. Esther Graff and Rosa and Ave Korn.

Funeral services were held from the Tharp Sontheimer-Tharp Funeral Home Sunday Morning, November 2, at 11:00 o'clock. Interment was in Garden of Memories.

—Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Smith and daughter, Miss Bee Smith, left Friday morning by car for Washington, D. C., where they will spend two weeks with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Eagan.

contest and Humphrey Kersanac won the title of the fastest pie eater, also a cash award for his accomplishment.

The party was enjoyed by a large group of the teen-agers and was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Bienville, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bonnetford, Robert Ladner, and Director of the Youth Center, B. R. Nobles and his wife.

The Tigers journey to Hattiesburg were defeated by the Demonstration Demons in the last two minutes and 20 seconds of play. Up to that time the Tigers had held a 7 to 6 advantage. Fumbles and pool tackling were the biggest weaknesses of the Tigers as one fumble set up the Demons' first TD and poor tackling gave them the other. The Tigers showed a strong offense, but as they seemed to get rolling one of their backs would fumble and the alert and hard-fitting Demons would recover.

Billy James, the Tiger QB, was injured and will be out for the season with a fractured knee cap. Terrell Randolph took over for James in the last half and did a fine job of picking up numerous yards on the QB sneak play.

The Tigers will step out of their class and take on New Orleans Academy this Friday night at St. Stanislaus stadium. Game time 8:00 p. m.

Mary Ann Garcia Expires Thursday

Mary Ann Garcia, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Bud) Garcia, Jr., died at her home Thursday, October 30, at 10:30 a. m.

Funeral services, conducted by Fahey Funeral Home, were held from the late residence on Ballentine street Friday, October 31, with religious services conducted by Rev. Father Hugh Taylor. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

In addition to her parents, Mary Ann is survived by a number of brothers and sisters.

Sister Of Local Residents Expires

Word was received here this week that Mrs. Maggie Heitzman Carlson died at her home in Chicago Sunday, November 2, at 8:00 a. m.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 2:00 p. m. in Chicago. A native of Bay St. Louis, Mrs. Carlson is survived by three sons; four sisters, Mrs. Leila Crawford, Bay St. Louis, Mrs. Ruth Hill, El Dorado, Arkansas; Mrs. Myrtle Morris, Gulfport; and Mrs. Ruby Baas, Jackson; and two brothers, George and Albert H. Heitzman of Bay St. Louis.

County Agent's Notes

By HOWARD SIMMONS

Due to the continued drought, the fire hazard situation continues to get worse. In a recent statement issued by Mr. Craig, the State Forester, he stated that ten residents, four barns and one highway bridge burned in Mississippi during the month of October. He further stated that 110,000 acres, were lost in Mississippi during the last three weeks. The woods are powder dry and when a fire gets started it is almost impossible to bring it under control. One careless moment in our woods can lay waste to large areas. Not only are valuable trees killed and wasted, but pastures and homes are also destroyed.

Prevent your woods and pastures from burning over. Be extra careful when burning trash, leaves or weed patches. When smoking while driving, use the car ash tray. Do not throw lighted cigarettes or matches from cars.

Build fire lanes between pastures and roadsides, between pastures and woods, and between any road and woods. Remember, it is better to be safe than sorry, so don't take chances with fire. It can be fatal, you know.

FALL GARDENS
It is not too late yet to plant a fall vegetable garden. This year, with food prices going ever higher, it is doubly important to have a fall garden to help beat the cost of living and to make for better diets.

Vegetables to be planted, if not already planted include: beets, Swiss chard, Chinese cabbage, head and leaf lettuce, carrots, kale, onions, spinach, mustard, turnips, parsley, radish, rape, endive, greens and collards.

These should have been planted thirty to forty days ago but due to the extreme drought most fall gardens will either have to be replanted or the planting is yet to be done.

More hardy vegetables like spinach and onions can be planted in Hancock County most anytime. Fertilizer is important to help mature fall vegetable crops. Use three to four pounds of 5-10-5 for each 100 feet of row and work well into the soil.

Nitrates will give the vegetables a "quick push." Apply two pounds per 100 feet of row of nitrate of soda and work well into the soil. If using ammonium nitrate use only half as much per 100 feet of row.

Other jobs include saving of home-grown seed; treating beans and peas against weevils before storing; watering and mulching as needed; collecting barnyard manure and protecting from rain until needed; regular harvesting continued insect control.

MILK PRODUCTION

Roughage, and grazing, are needed to keep milk production up at this time of year. See that your cows get all roughage they can eat from good grazing and hay.

Demand for milk should be greater and the price better this winter than it has been in previous winter. So keep up that production.

Feed grain in proportion to the individual production of cows; practice regularity of milking and milk rapidly. Prepare barn now for winter housing. Comfortable housing tends toward higher production and more economical production. Keeping cows of cold wet ground helps to prevent mastitis.

Heifers are your future herd. Treat them for internal parasites immediately. Follow with a second treatment three weeks after the first treatment. Feed is so scarce and high priced to feed to stomach worms all winter.

performance of veteran quality as Marie-Louise Durham, "the other woman."

Vicki Hill handles the character role of the cynical "Mrs. Culver" with the ease and skill to be expected from such a seasoned trouper.

Barbara Quigley, one of the most promising newcomers to appear before Little Theatre audiences, makes her debut as "Martha Culver," a feline young lady who rarely bothers to draw in her claws.

Lucien Raymond, favorite of all audiences, handles his bit part as Bentley, the butler, with his usual complete dispatch.

John Mitchell, P.E.C.S. Constance's straying husband is portrayed by Kenneth B. Thompson with the same brand of dramatic ability that received such acclaim in "Payment Deferred."

Philip Allison, longtime favorite, handles, with his usual skill, the role of Bernard Kersal, a former admirer of Constance who appears on the scene and threatens to turn the triangle into a quadrangle.

Dorothea Thompson gives a creditable performance as Barbara Fawcett, a friend who has heard the gossip and is anxious "to help out."

After a long absence, Donald Cole Sr., has returned to the playhouse stage as Mortimer Durham, the outraged husband of Mary Louise. Cole's performance is outstanding.

The combination of a delightful play, polished directing and brilliant acting promises theatre-goers an entertaining and satisfying evening.
